THE FAMILY PHYSICIAN.

TO RELISH plain and wholesome food: Earn what you eat by an honest employment; be regular at your meals and eat slowly. Never spoil your taste by the use of the "vile weed" or by the use of pungent and heating fruits of the castor—the mustard and pepper, or even the too free use of vinegar. The natural appetite is satisfied with plain food till corrupted or vitiated by luxuries.

"AN ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." On this principle it is easier to prevent dyspepsia by the use of nourishing food, plain and easy of digestion, taken regularly and in moderate quantities, than by all the medicine of a drug store. And, indeed, since it is difficult to destroy the effect without the removal of the cause, it is simply impossible to cure dyspepsia permanently while the diet is positively bad.

ALL heat or warmth in the body comes from food oxidized, slowly burned in the body, just as much and in about the same way that heat in the stove or furnace comes from fuel oxidized or burned there. Warmth is always escaping from the body, unless it is in an atmosphere nearly up to 100 degrees of heat. Warm clothing, warm houses, stalls, sheds that prevent the rapid escape of heat save the necessity of taxing the stomach to digest an excessive amount of food (fuel) to keep up the heat of the body, human or brute.

MORE USES FOR CARBOLIC ACID.—According to the London Lancet the use of carbolic acid has been found specially effective in all that class of local festering, pustulating diseases of the skin, which are at once so common and so difficult to cure; they include all kinds of pustules, boils and carbuncles, sycosis, pustular acne and festering ringworm; such strumous sores, especially of the neck, as come under the care of the physician; also phthisis in its second and third stages, and cases of bronchitis accompanied with more or less purulous expectoration. It is found, however, that, in order to be efficacious, the carbolic acid must be brought into contact with the part to be acted on, and the Lancet says that in many cases where the acid has been found ineffective, the failure has been due to a neglect to insure this contact.

THE SUN CHOLERA MEDICINE.—More than twenty years ago, when it was found that prevention of cholera was easier than cure, a prescription drawn up by eminent doctors was published in the Sun, and it took the name of "the Sun cholera medicine." Our contemporary never lent its name to a better article. We have seen it in constant use for nearly two-score years and found it to be the best remedy for looseness of the bowels ever yet devised. No one who has this by him and takes it in time will ever have the cholera. We commend it to all our friends. Even when no cholera is anticipated it is an excellent remedy for colic, diarrhea, etc. Take equal parts of tincture of Cayenne pepper, tinture of opium, tincture of rhubarb, essence of peppermint and spirits of camphor. Mix well. Dose, fifteen to thirty drops in a little cold water, according to age and violence of symptoms, repeated every fifteen or twenty minutes until relief is obtained. —New York Journal of Commerce.

In the South of France caged decoy birds have their eyes put out, and they sing to the rays of the rising sun which they feel but cannot see, and they attract free birds from the woods. The latter birds—thrushes, nightingales, linnets, woodpeckers, robins, blackbirds, yellowhammers and larks—are mercilessly shot, twenty or thirty at a time, and are used for food. There is also much netting of these birds. Insects are increasing in number. An effort is being made to stop the slaughter of the birds.

OUT IN THE WOODS.

It is the easiest thing in the world (says an old hunter) to get lost in the woods. I have known instances where men have lost themselves within two miles of home and wandered about for two days. The moment a man realizes that he is lost his mental faculties seem to desert him, and he becomes almost insane. The right thing to do is to prevent this mental demoralization. My method is this: If I find that I am "out of my reckoning," don't know where I am, and begin to feel nervous, instead of rushing about and so becoming more and more bewildered, I lie down flat upon my back and close my eyes, or only look upward, and endeavor to fix my thoughts upon something beside my situation. For instance, I commence to quote poetry, scripture, something I have committed to memory, and which always interests and pleases me to repeat; or I imagine an interested audience, and talk away like a candidate for Alderman. At the end of fifteen minutes I can get up with a perfectly "level" head, examine trees to see on which side the moss grows, or on which side the branches are longest and most plentiful, decide upon a course and go directly where I wish to go. This plan has helped me out so nicely that I give it to my brother sportsmen, asking them to remember it and give it a trial if ever they get seriously uncertain of their whereabouts. It is an excellent plan, when lost, to kindle a fire at once—for the sportsman is never without matches—then if you travel in a circle you will know it. And always, if night is coming on and you cannot decide with reasonable certainty upon your course, build a fire and stay by it until morning, or some one comes in search of you. Lost or found, shooting or fishing, a sportsman's motto should be, "Keep cool." He cannot afford to lose his head.

Forbidden Fruit.

A child always covets that which is forbidden him; and yet the discipline of certain households consists, for the most part, in the enactment and enforcement of prohibitory laws. "Touch not, taste not, handle not," is inscribed upon almost everything which the child is likely to meddle with after. All the trees in the garden are full of forbidden fruit. He is told that he must not take anything without asking; and he is well aware that asking will be in vain. Now, if you want to bring up your children so that they may become something, you must leave something to their own discretion. The moral judgment needs to be disciplined as well as the moral sense.

IN England, when a man is drunk, he is "on a fool;" in Chicago, he is "on a hoorah;" in St. Louis, he has a "dash too much up his nose;" in Kansas City, he is "ginned up for all that's out;" in St. Joe, "the benzine has the upper hold;" in Omaha, he is "on it bigger'n an Injun;" in Denver, he "slung it a bowl too much;" in Cheyenne, "the duffer's got it in the neck," and in Leadville, "the galoot's on a roarer again!"

CUSTOMS BLANKS.—Duty blanks with with the new form of oath attached are now on sale at The Colonist stationery store.

MISCELLANEOUS.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S

CHLORODYNE

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

Advice to Invalids—If you wish to obtain quiet, refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary aching of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media, and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by Dr. J. Collis Browne (late Army Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, January 5th, 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33, Great Russell street, Bloomsbury, London. Dear Sir,—We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the wide-spread reputation this justly esteemed medicine, Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan, but all over the East. As a remedy of general utility, we much question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are happy to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances ad infinitum of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhœa and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy and as a general sedative, that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleraic Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's, from a firm conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a DELIBERATE BREACH OF FAITH ON THE PART OF THE CHEMIST TO PRESCRIBER AND PATIENT ALIKE. We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes & Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain, His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the Inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See "The Times," July 13, 1864.

Sold in bottles at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9., 4s 6d. and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

Caution—Beware of Piracy and Imitations.

PROTECTION VS. FREE TRADE.

Protection is again engaging the attention of the British public, and Free Traders are again mustering their forces to meet the attacks made upon them by their adversaries. The result of this renewed discussion may not yet be foreseen. Free trade, in theory, is a beautiful thing to look at, and where all things are equal may possibly be worked out to advantage. But, constituted as the world is, with nations that have attained to different stages of civilization and commercial intelligence, and whose interests are diverse and often conflicting, things are not equal, and it is doubtful whether it is likely, in its application, to produce all the good its advocates claim for it. In England, a country possessing enormous accumulated wealth, we discern symptoms of dissatisfaction deeply fixed which may yet lead to a moderate protection. To us in this Canada of ours is free trade advantageous? We think not. From early times until quite recently manufactured goods have been imported; the balance of trade has always been against us as a necessary consequence, and home manufacturers have been comparatively unknown, for the simple reason that, owing to the paucity of population, enhanced price of labor, a low tariff, and shortness of capital, we have not been in a position successfully to compete with nations possessing all the advantages arising out of long and wealthy establishment; nations whose material success and present high position commercially have flowed in a great measure from a protective policy. The Dominion covers an immense area, extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the lakes on the south to the frozen regions on the north, and contains vast mines of undeveloped wealth. It is very sparsely settled and requires only the introduction of population to render it one of the most fruitful and prosperous countries under the sun. It has also facilities for manufacturing unsurpassed anywhere else. But it must be opened up. It becomes necessary, therefore, that the fostering care and helping hand of the government should be extended. This is being done, as it always has been, by the present party in power at Ottawa with an energy that leaves no doubt as to the sincerity of their patriotism. To accomplish all the great works of improvement, already executed and in course of execution, calls for heavy expenditures. Hence the necessity for a revenue and an adjustment of terms commensurate with the requirements of the country, to enable it to meet its obligations. Many, however, if not all, of these expenditures will, in future years, by an influx of population which is sure to follow, and by a consequent extension of the area of production, be necessary. But, meantime, our public credit must be (and it stands high at the financial centres of the world) maintained. A revenue adequate to the occasion must be provided. Direct taxation is out of the question, and, therefore, to meet the contingencies of the case, to aid in developing the country in its varied material interests, to promote manufactures and thereby introduce capital, giving ample employment to an increasing manufacturing population, at the same time not overburdening the consumer, we have a tariff which, with some modifications that are necessary to meet the peculiar relative position of this province, we think best adapted to meet the object in view. Already we observe its beneficial effects. Rapid strides are being made; factories which under an adverse policy were closed or running on short time, are again fully occupied, and the number of new factories is constantly increasing; prices have again reached a paying point, and idleness is becoming a thing of the past. Let the people of this province make a new departure. Let us awake from our lethargy and throw our energies into the work of development. The field is attractive; our advantages are many; and no one can legitimately question our ability ultimately to succeed to the fullest extent. Our misfortune is that we have been too long waiting for something to "turn up," instead of applying our latent powers to the accomplishment of the great work before us.

SCOTCH HOUSE.

A. McLEAN & CO.

Beg to intimate that they have received a very choice assortment of real Scotch Tweed Clothing for the fall and winter trade, made up in the latest styles and patterns, Ulsters, Tweed Suits, etc., etc. These goods are superior to any Canadian Tweeds, and having purchased them for cash, we offer them at the same price as Canadian Tweeds. As we have a large stock of both kinds we invite a comparison. We have also received a large addition to our well selected stock of Scotch Hosiery, Lamb's Wool and Cashmere Underclothing, Waterproofs, extra large size Umbrellas, Winter Caps, Gloves, Scarfs, &c., &c. A. McLEAN. *

DEATH IN THE COFFEE POT.—The public are cautioned against purchasing imported California ground coffee. Its cheapness is its only recommendation. The ingredients are of the vilest description, as anyone using it will discover should he examine the grounds. During the perihelia of the planets people should be careful what they eat and drink. Don't allow your grocer to palm off his trash upon you, because it pays him better to sell it than the good article. Ask for FELL & Co.'s Coffee and take no other. *

ELOPEMENT ECCENTRICITIES.

How People Have Got Rid of Undesirable Partners and Got Other Ones.

(Compiled from the New York World.)

A married farmer of Knox County, O., eloped with a neighbor's wife, and the deserted partners philosophically obtained divorces and were married.

Bruce Cooper, of Morehead, Ky., eloped with Mollie De Hart, aged thirteen, but after going a few miles repented, advised her to go home and shot himself.

A baby was sent to the New Haven Poorhouse not long ago under singular circumstances. Both its parents had eloped, the father with another man's wife and the mother with another woman's husband.

Two young people eloped from Ripon, Wis., to Fond du Lac and telegraphed back to the girl's parents, "May we get married? Please wire consent immediately, as ceremony will be performed this evening anyhow."

A young woman of Wallingford, Conn., was married the other evening, and while festivities that followed the ceremony were at their height the bride eloped with one of her admirers, who was among the guests.

A young Lochinvar eloped with an Illinois girl, but at Hays City, Kansas, abandoned her, giving her $100, and telling her he was going to Texas. She bought a horse, a revolver and some provisions and set out after him.

A middle-aged couple recently visited Kansas City on their bridal tour and stayed at the house of the bride's brother. The bridegroom saw his wife's niece, that she was fair, won her heart, eloped with her and made the rest of the journey on the old tickets.

A married woman eloped at Farewell, Mich., recently and took train for the east with her paramour. "Thank Heaven, I'm in time!" yelled the husband, as he galloped up to the station, entered the car, placed her child in the cowering woman's lap and rode happily away.

A resident of Buckner Station, Ky., after arriving at the age of eighty, and having been married four times, eloped at night on horseback with the youthful belle of the county, was chased twenty miles by her angry father, but got away triumphantly and went on his fifth honeymoon trip rejoicing.

Not long ago a curious elopement case occurred in Bath, Me. A woman fell in love with a man who was not her husband. The husband, taking the matter cooly, said: "Wife, we've saved up this winter $100; and we'll spend it together; go, and here's $10." She took the money and went.

Mr. Gowland, of Stockon-on-Tees, England, lodged with Mr. Peacock and eloped with his wife. The husband, some financial arrangements not being carried out, had them arrested for the larceny of the woman's clothes, but as it came out that he had helped them to carry the trunk to the station and had wished them a pleasant journey the charge was dismissed.

When Dr. J. C. Thompson was married at Sedalia, Mo., he noticed that Miss Collet, the bridesmaid, whom he saw then for the first time, was handsomer than his wife. He told her so a few days later and that he was sorry he had not married her, whereon she remarked that they could easily remedy that by eloping., and they eloped accordingly.

A Female Lamp-Lighter.

Washington possesses what no other city, perhaps, in the United States does, a woman lamplighter. Her name is Mrs. Welsh. She is of Irish extraction, and is represented as a busy, bustling little woman of about forty years of age. Her district is situated in what is known as Hell's bottom, one of the worst sections of the city, and through this section at all hours of the night Mrs. Welsh may be seen hastening from lamp-post to lamp-post either firing or extinguishing. She does not use a ladder but runs up the post with the agility of a squirrel. On the darkest night she penetrates the inmost recess of the alleys with a bravery that knows no fear. The lamps along her route are lighted with the utmost regularity and extinguished with equal promptness. In fact she may be regarded as the model lamp-lighter of the city. Her husband is now in jail serving out a sentence for an offence that his Irish impetuosity led him into, and to retain the position of the family the little woman assumed to take her husband's place and do his work.

In striking contrast with this case is that of a six-foot man who has charge of a certain district, and who whistles vigorously while extinguishing the lamps that are in secluded spots, for the purpose, it is said, of keeping up his courage.

SAUSAGE! SAUSAGE!

Clear the track, everybody! Don't you see I have arrived with the famous JERSEY LILLY SAUSAGES, manufactured by the celebrated VANBURGH BROTHERS, three in number, whose ancestors were sausage makers to the Queen of Sheba, and were recognized as the most expert manipulators of saucisse de cochin now in existence, whom I have at an enormous expense expressly imported from New York. They also make a speciality in curing and introducing the latest new style of BACON to boil with Cabbage-heads.

Municipal Council.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 23.

Council met at 7:45. Present, HisWorship the Mayor in the chair, and Couns. Shakespeare, Smith, Boyd, McLean, Kinsman, Wriglesworth and Vigelius.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Thos. Elwyn, Dep. Pro. Sect., stating that the government has decided to grant the land asked for on condition that each of the side lines be extended through to Fort street, and that any buildings now on the school reserve be left as they are.

Coun. Wriglesworth then moved that the communication and tracing be referred to the committee appointed for the opening up of Yates street.

Coun. Boyd, in seconding, remarked that the government diserved credit for prompt action in the matter.

Coun. McLean was in favor of opening up the street, but thought that fences just put up at considerable expense would have to be removed. He complained of the conduct of Coun. Shakespeare in employing some other foreman when Dewsnap was engaged in that capacity.

Coun. Shakespeare thought the reply of the government was a favorable one. He was astonished at the remarks of Coun. McLean in stating that the matter was entirely in accordance with his ideas. That councillor had over and over again asserted that the government would not allow the street to be opened up through the reserve and had opposed the subject all along.

Coun. Smith remarked that so far as he could see a right of way would have to be purchased.

Coun. Wriglesworth stated that the property alluded to had already been purchased and the street opened up. He maintained that through the efforts of a majority of the Council the street was in a fair way of being opened up satisfactorily.

Motion carried.

From John Coughlan, asking permission to use a portion of Johnson and Store streets during the erection of brick buildings on these streets.

[His Worship was here called away in consequence of the illness of Mrs. Turner and Coun. Shakespeare was called to the chair.]

Mr. Coughlan's request was granted.

From Collector Hamley, with reference to powder being brought to the wharf in large quantities, and stating that he did not see how he could obviate the difficulty, but he would do all he could to prevent it if the Council would point out how it could be done.

Received and filed.

From property-holders on the south side of Henry street asking for a sidewalk.

Referred to street committee with power to act.

From W. Heathorn, stating that he had been instructed by the street committee not to proceed with the sidewalk, which he had been ordered to put down.

Coun. McLean moved the clerk be instructed to inform Mr. Heathorn that the tan bark sidewalk will answer for the present.

Seconded and carried.

From property-holders on Douglas street north of Discovery asking for a light on the corner of Discovery and Douglas street and at two other places indicated.

Received and laid on table as in view of getting the electric light introduced shortly they would not be needed.

In reply to Coun. Kinsman Coun. Boyd stated that Mr. R. Nuttall had received a telegram saying that the erection of towers would soon be proceeded with and that perhaps by the new year the city would be lighted up by electricity.

From residents on Dallas road and Menzies street asking for a light in that locality.

Coun. McLean remarked that Messrs. E. Crow Baker and Charles had agreed to put up a lamp and post and keep them in order if the Council would supply oil and do the lighting.

Coun. Boyd considered that the offer of those parties should be accepted.

The chairman remarked that possibly in 40 days the electric light would be in operation and that there would be expense connected with this request.

Motion to grant the petition of the property holders lost on a tie vote the chairman voting against it in view of the electric light being introduced.

Communication laid on the table.

Coun. Wriglesworth complained of communications being received from property holders and not noticed by the Council.

WOOLEN MILL.

An enquiry was received from W. Elson from Wallacetown, Engin Co., O., asking for information about the bonus for a woolen mill having seen the notice in the West Shore.

Coun. McLean moved that full instructions and information accompanied by a letter from the Mayor be sent to Mr. Elsen.

Seconded and carried.

REPORTS.

From the street committee specifying certain works that were in progress and stating that the following amounts had been expended, namely: on James Bay Ward $2780; on Yates street ward $1,731.50 and on Johnson street ward $4,356.25, making a total of $8867.75.

Coun. McLean explained those items of expenditures in each of the wards and complained that James Bay Ward had not been fairly dealt with. Johnson street ward had had more than its share of public expenditure. He proceeded at some length to critize items of expenditure in Johnson street ward, particularly around Coun. Kinsman's residence.

Coun. Kinsman stated that Coun. McLean had advised and strongly recommended expenditure near his house.

Coun. McLean continued, and took the chairman to task for remarks he had made and for monies which he had caused to be spent. He characterized the chairman's conduct as presumptious.

The chairman explained.

Coun. McLean was only doing his duty to his ward in calling attention to the city expenditure and he would avail himself of another opportunity of speaking to this matter more fully.

Coun. Boyd could not see any harm in the report. He supposed the money expended in Johnson street ward had been required and well spent. He referred to Coun. McLean's remarks about Rupert street.

Coun. Smith asked Coun. Boyd if he had not offered $200 of a bonus to get the work done.

Coun. Boyd—Yes; but he was to get the rock which was worth $300. He then asked Coun. McLean about selling rock to the contractors of the postoffice building. He wanted to get Coun. McLean's authority for selling the city property.

Coun. McLean explained.

Coun. Smith asked how it was that there was not more money for expenditure in the city as the water works had not taken the money that had been estimated for them. There ought to have been more money available for street work at the present time.

Collector Russell made some explanations with reference to city expenditure.

The chairman made a few remarks with reference to expenditure in Johnson street ward. He contended that as that ward paid more money in taxes it consequently deserved more expenditure. All that had been done was necessary and the ward had only got its just dues. Coun. McLean came in again for no small amount of censure.

Coun. Kinsman as a member for Johnson street ward considered that the ward had only been fairly dealt with. A great deal of the work ought to have been done in former years. He hoped that the ward would be justly dealt with next year also.

Coun. Vigelius thought that the streets in James Bay ward were in good condition and a great credit to the city.

Coun. Boyd here wanted Coun. McLean's authority for selling rock.

Coun. McLean gave his authority for so doing and stated that he had the consent of the full street committee for the transaction.

Coun. Boyd on being implicated in the transaction excused himself for his share in it by stating that he was a new member and ignorant at the time.

Report finally received and filed.

SHADE TREES.

Coun. Vigelius referred to the trees not being replaced round the city hall.

Coun. Smith remarked that some of the trees had been killed by putting lime around them. Also that a drain should be cut on Cormonant street to take off the surplus water or the trees would not live.

Coun. Wriglesworth did not think that futnre Councils would thank this Council for planting them, as they would soon become a nuisance and would have to be cut down.

SANITARY.

A report was read from the sanitary officer with the concurrence of the health officer recommending certain improvements in different parts of the city and recommending that those improvements be carried out.

Coun. Kinsman moved that the provisions of the sanitary bylaw be carried out and the recommendations in the report also.

SIDEWALKS BYLAW.

Coun. Boyd stated that in his bylaw other bylaws had been incorporated, but as it is long it would not be advisable to take it up at such a late hour. He thought it ought to be deferred till the decision of the Supreme Court be given on the present sidewalk bylaw.

POLICE MAGISTRATE'S SALARY.

Coun. Vigelius moved the increase of the police magistrate's salary from $750 to $1000, commencing from the 1st inst. He considered that the increase was well deserved and hoped that it would be unanimously voted.

Coun. Smith here referred to the report of the city surveyor on Simcoe street, which had not been acted upon.

Report received and filed.

Coun. McLean in seconding the motion of Coun. Vigelius eulogized the conduct and the work of the present police magistrate. He considered the salary of $1000 quite low enough for the duties that had to be performed.

Motion carried unanimously.

Coun. Smith moved that the work on Simcoe street, between Montreal and Dallas road, recommended by the city surveyor, be done, said work not to exceed $125.

Seconded by Coun. McLean.

The chairman called attention to the fact of there being little or no money at the disposal of the Council.

Coun. Kinsman did not see how the work could be performed without money. He would therefore be obliged to vote against the motion.

In the absence of funds Coun. Boyd would also vote against the expenditure.

Motion lost.

Council adjourned.

TIN GOING UP.—Advices from England by last mail state that the price of tin had risen ten per cent. within a month and was still going up. This is easily accounted for from the fact that demand for that article is increasing enormously now that fish, flesh, fowl, fruit, and almost everything else that is eatable are put up in cans in all parts of the world.

DIRELECT.—The hull of the old schooner Experiment, which came to grief some years ago on Gabriola reef, near where the ship Thrasher now lies stranded, got adrift in the harbor on Tuesday evening and floated down to hospital point where she grounded for the night. Yesterday the old wreck was moored to the rock and now constitutes an additional beacon in that part of the harbor.

NOT YET ABLE TO BE UP. — Mr. Justice Roberton is still confined to his bed with the troublesome and painful swelling near his right knee. Perfect quiet for the limb is likely to be enjoined by his medical attendants for some time to come.

FAILED TO CONNECT.—The steamer Enterprise left New Westminster at her usual hour yesterday morning, but up to going to press last evening had not arrived, owing, possibly, to there having been a heavy fog in the straits and on the gulf all day yesterday.

Another Fatal Accident.

(Special Dispatch to The Colonist.)

YALE, Nov. 23.

A fatal accident occurred at Camp 13 on Monday last by the premature discharging of a blast of giant powder which was being carelessly rammed into the hole with an iron rod by the foreman. An Italian named Salani was instantly killed and Owen Oleson and O. R. Leonard very seriously injured, the latter so much so that it is doubtful if he will recover.

On Sunday last Pat Kelly, a railroad hand, was found unconscious in the road near Spuzzum. He was badly frozen and died soon after. It was found that the cause was apoplexy.

J. B. Greaves, with 200 head of beef cattle, arrived here yesterday en route for Victoria.

The Weather is again clear and frosty.

The Electric Light.

Mr. R. Nuttall, the agent of the Brush Electric Light Company received a telegram yesterday from the manager, Mr. Spaulding of Cleveland, Ohio, stating that the company had accepted the terms and restrictions of the City Council and that the erection of three towers would be at once proceeded with. The agent at San Francisco has also been informed of the decision arrived at at headquarters. Full particulars and complete instructions are now en route by mail.

Marine.

The H. B. Co.'s barque Prince Rupert, Capt. Shaw, leaves for London this morning with a cargo of salmon. The Alexander will tow her as far as Cape Flattery.

The steamship Geo. W. Elder is due this evening from San Francisco.

Three large barques, namely the Prince Rupert, Chiloe, and Rover of the Seas were shipping canned salmon in this harbor yesterday for the London market. The former vessel's cargo is about completed, the next is still busily engaged taking it in and the latter has just commenced.

ENTERTAINMENT THIS EVENING.—The entertainment which comes off this evening at St. John Sunday School building promises to be a most recherche affair. Tea, tarts and tableaux, to say nothing of songs, music and recitations. What more could the greatest possible stickler for variety look for! A great crowd and great enjoyment may be anticipated. A satisfactory full dress rehearsal took place last evening.

DEATH.—John A. Billings an old settler and for many years proprietor of the Temperance Hotel in this city, died yesterday at the Naval Hospital, Esquimalt. He had been ailing for some time and in anticipation of his demise had purchased a lot and erected a tombstone at Ross Bay with the incription complete, just leaving a blank space for the date, &c. He will be interred to-day.

FUNERAL.—The remains of little Abbe Nelson who recently died at Yale were followed to their last resting place yesterday afternoon by a large number of carriages filled with mourning relations and friends. The following gentlemen acted as pall-bearers: D. Campbell, R. Irving, J. Davies, L. G. McQuade, R. Hall, jr., and W. Dorman.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETIE'S ENTERTAINMENT.—By reference to advertisement in another column it will be seen that this entertainment is to be held at Philharmonic Hall on Thursday evening the 15th ult. The programme is an attractive one, while the object commends itself to everybody's favorable consideration.

ANOTHER SUDDEN DEATH.—Yesterday Mr. John Monck, long and favorably known as a tinsmith and for several years foreman in Mr. J. S. Drummond's stove and tin shop, died suddenly of erysipelas. It appears that a few days ago he received a slight bruise which induced the disease of which he died. Deceased leaves a widow and family in this city.

ST. ANN'S BAZAAR.—So far as number, variety, usefulness and cheapness are concerned of articles to be offered for sale next Monday and Tuesday at Philharmonic Hall by the ladies connected with St. Ann's Convent the bazaar is likely to eclipse all former ones. Patronage for such an object is sure to be general and liberal.

FROM JAMES ISLAND.—The D. G. steamer Sir James Douglas returned from James Island yesterday morning with the scows belonging to the dredger which, owing to the rough weather, she could not bring down on Tuesday, but left them under the lee of the Island and returned for them after bringing the dredger down.

THRASHER CASE.—This case comes up for hearing this morning on appeal from the judgment rendered by the Chief Justice in favor of the defendants. The appellants will contend that the act and rules of the local parliament and executive limiting the right of appeal to such matters as may be fixed by the government are unconstitutional and void.

FOR NEW WESTMINSTER.—The steamer Western Slope leaves for New Westminster this afternoon with a large freight and passengers. She was detained on account of the ship not being able to take salmon off as fast as she could have unloaded.

FRAZER VS. KING.—We are prepared to substantiate the accuracy of our report of this case. As the matter is sub judice we at present refrain from further reference to it.

THE BLACK DIAMOND.—Mr. Thos. Harmon yesterday finished his repairs on the Black Diamond. A survey will be held to-day after which, if satisfactory, she will sail direct for China.

CARIBOO MAIL.—On and after Monday next the Cariboo and Up-Country mail will close on Monday evening at 6 o'clock instead of Thursday as heretofore.

FROM THE SOUND.—The U. S. revenue cutter Oliver Wolcott arrived in the harbor at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

FOR BURRARD INLET.—The Pilot left for Burrard Inlet last night to bring down the lumber-laden barque Agnes Wilson.

THANKSGIVING.—To-day is the annual Thanksgiving Day in the United States.

No Police Court work yesterday, not even a drunk.

WESTERN MEDICAL INSTITUTE, CLEVELAND, O. Mr. JAMES I. FELLOWS. Dear Sir:—We were induced to prescribe your Syrup of Hypophosphites by Dr. McMaster; and its use has been attended with such satisfactory results as to warrant our employing it largely from this time forward. A. SLEE, M. D. *

HIGH-PRICED CIDER.

A Story of Greenbacks in Sacramento During War Times.

[Sacramento Record-Union.]

A bit of unpublished history in the criminal line, with Sacramento for its scene of action, is told by a party cognizant of the facts. In 1864, when the war of the rebellion was at its height, and greenbacks were about at the lowest, being rated at from 45 to 50 cents on the dollar, the occurrences related here took place. Where the Gold Bank of D. O. Mills & Co, at Second and J streets, now stands, was then located Wormser's clothing store. Beneath it was a beer hall, or dive, known as the Mammoth Saloon. One evening late a stranger entered. He was waited upon by the proprietor's wife, who was the female attendant at the place. He was a well-dressed man, considerably intoxicated, and possessed evidently of plenty of money. He mixed his liquors and soon became more indifferent to things material. Presently he struck up an acquaintance with a visitor to the saloon, a man who still lives not a thousand miles from Sacramento, and induced him to accept of his hospitalities. He ordered champagne for two, and the woman served them with bottled Oregon cider, which, selling at 25 cents per bottle, passed on occasions like that for Heidsleck, at $5 per bottle. The stranger paid for the first bottle with a bill drawn from a fat wallet, and which was supposed to be a $10 greenback. The woman took it to the bar, and as currency then rated, it just paid for the "wine." A second bottle was ordered, and a third, and a fourth, and each was paid for in like manner. Finally, in the exuberance of his friendship for his new-found companion, the strange man dashed a bill into the former's hand and declared that it was time for him to treat, and he'd

MAKE HIM A PRESENT

Of the wherewithal. The companion, with but a hasty glance at the bill, thrust it into his vest pocket, ordered a fifth bottle, and paid for it with a silver half dollar, the barkeeper not daring to put a fancy price on cider for him. By the time this bottle was disposed of the stranger had become almost oblivious, and staggering from the saloon was seen no more. His sudden friend, imagining that he had made at least $4.50 by his adroit management, soon after retired also, and feeling happy over his speculation, invited several friends to step up to the bar of a then well-known and first-class hotel, and drink with him. They drank more than once, and the host of the party finally handed the barkeeper (still a well-known citizen here) the bill, remarking that he "reckoned that'd settle the damages." The dispenser of liquid refreshment, glancing at the bill with surprise, replied it certainly would, and shortly after took the man aside and pointed out that it was a $1,000 greenback. The astonishment of the man fairly worked a paralysis of the vocal organs, and his eyes rolled wildly. He verily believed it was all a dream, the result of two much cider, and he only recovered himself when the barkeeper told him to come round in the morning and redeem the bill, which he did early enough by the aid of a bosom friend, a man who some years thereafter figured in a noted murder case, and whose escape from the noose was one of the marvels of the day. A saloon man, further up town, was the next day called upon by this third "bosom friend," who asked him if he could cash

A $1,000 GREENBACK.

The publican told him he could do it through his banker, and he accordingly took the bill, having no knowledge of whence it came, and had it cashed in gold coin for its market value, nearly $500. He thought nothing of it then, as the man who requested the change to be made frequently handled large sums. It was noticed within two or three days the Mammoth saloon closed up, and it was given out that the proprietor and his wife had suddenly left for Germany, which proved true. A few years later, however, they returned, and the man died in this State. A long time after, the publican who effected the sale of the note had occasion, in company with a well known detective, officer, to overhaul the book kept at the station house, known as the "Rogue's Gallery" when the officer putting his finger upon a page adorned with a photographic likeness of a middle-aged man remarked, "That's a fellow who has been looked for far and near. There was a large reward for him. He stole twenty-five one-thousand dollar greenbacks in Salt Lake City, decamped at once and was traced to this city. Here he suddenly disappeared." Immediately the recollection of the change of the 1,000-dollar bill, and some strange whispers he had subsequently heard, flashed across the citizen's mind and he told the officer that he believed that he knew what became of part of that money.

Subsequent inquiry on his part brought the whole story to light. The cider was paid for in each case with a $1,000 bill. The bosom friend of the companion of the stranger with the fat wallet had, on discovery of the fact, gone to the keeper of the dive and demanded one of the four bills he held as the price of silence. The cellar-man while refusing and denying that he had received them, became alarmed and dared not offer the bills here for fear of exposure, and so suddenly closed out his business and went to Europe until the thing should blow over. The man who made the demand on him himself had to "run" there after to escape the gallows and so the matter dropped out of sight, the only remaining immediate party to the transaction being he who treated with the greenback gift of the stranger. As to what became of that stranger history is darkly silent. Here he disappeared. As to the method of his disappearance, who shall say?

Poultry.

To have laying hens in winter, the first year of their lives, the pullets should be hatched early in the previous spring. Thus they grow to maturity by late fall, and after moulting they will begin to lay, frequently in October. Leghorns will commence to lay at five months old, and we have known Brahmas and Cochins to begin laying at six months. Generally speaking, however, they do not lay much till they are a month or two older. So, if your pullets are hatched out say in March or April, they will be seven or eight months of age in November, and should be ready to "lay in winter," naturally, without forcing. But they commonly do not get to laying at this time, and the reason is that they have not been properly fed with this end in view. Where you find young winter laying hens, you may be sure they have been taken extra good care of, from the shell upward. But older hens may be put to this work, by artificial feeding, or by supplying them with highly stimulating or egg producing food for the same purpose.

Thus, if we take a flock of one and two-years-old hens, and pen them where we can furnish them with animal and grain food, and the necessary condiments which go to create egg meat and shells—away from the ordinary fed poultry—we can quicken them in the laying disposition, and they will commence to dischargo their litters a month or six weeks earlier than they would have done had they been left to take their chances among the flock.

But this forcing is exhaustive. Nature is over hurried. It is not a healthful way for hens to lay, under this stimulating "high pressure." And they soon lay themselves out. We have know hens thus treated to produce enormous sized eggs frequently, and also many softshelled ones, when being thus pushed. They can be "made to lay" in this way for a time But it is a brief time only before they will "play out," under this hastening process. We therefore would advise those who would have laying fowls in winter time, to procure pullets that they know are then seven to eight months of age, of any breed.

If they wish to bring their old hens into laying at this period, they must feed them high, in advance, keep them warm and dry, and furnish them with plenty of animal food, wheat, buckwheat and egg producing food, for this purpose. And so it will be for the flock thus forced—a short life and a prolific one; but you may thus have winter laying hens.—Poultry World.

Comments on Foreign Affairs.

So England is going to sell Gibraltar, is she? And that is a preliminary step toward the sale of India, is it? And Australia, Canada, and all other British colonies and dependencies, are to follow suit, are they? Well, well, well! What strange things do come to pass, to be sure! Of course there can be no question about the truth of the news, for was not the European cablegram concocted in the back office of the New York World, and has not that paper a reputation for telling the truth pretty nearly as often as the great Chicago Liar himself? England sell Gibraltar? Yes, when the Government of the United States sells the city of Washington to the Chinese. At a mighty expenditure of blood, money and muscle the Lion of England laid his paw upon the key to Mediterranean, and when he loosens his grip it will be the sword, not the purse, force, not barter, which will be the inducement. And the sword aforesaid will have to be a stouter and sharper one than has yet been forged in any earthly smithy. What purpose the Irish-Americans who run the great Eastern newspapers hope to serve by the stupid canards which they are constantly publishing, is more than we can divine; but surely it is a pitiable spectacle to see the intelligent American public devouring such "news" over their matutinal coffee, and actually believing it.—S. F. News Letter.

FEW of the multitude that was wont to surround Col. "Jim" Fisk in his palmy days, says the New York Hour, seem to remember that their idol left a loving wife, and that this wife is dependent for the bare necessaries of life upon the bounty of a sister by no means wealthy. That the wife of a man whose estate at his death was known to be valued at $3,000,000 should be thus situated, will be regarded by many with incredulity. In his will, Fisk, after bequeathing various sums to needy friends and relatives, left the residue of his estate to his wife, Mrs. Lucy D. Fisk. To carry out what he was pleased to term "the labor of love" of managing his wife's large interests, he appointed as trustee the man who had been associated with him for years, and who owed to him that vast fortune with which he is now enabled to control railroads that gird a continent. Of course, a man who could not remember while under oath whether a certain payment had been $5,000,000 or $10,000,000, could hardly be expected to remember just what amount he held in trust for the wife of his benefactor. It is said, on good authority, that before his death, Fisk made over various large sums of money to Gould to be held in trust for Mrs. Fisk, in order that she should be amply provided for. But Gould solemnly denied these transactions, and there is no one now who can contradict him.

How She Got That Ring.

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer writes that the handsomest diamond ring said to be worn by any one on the stage sparkles on the little white hand of a rather magnificent but very pretty performer, known as "Stella," of the Soldene troupe. When that highly refined and æsthetic company played in Denver, some one introduced this particular star to Governor Tabor, who is a generous patron of music. During a brief conversation with her the magnate was summoned on business by a messenger. As he withdrew he, it is presumed unconsciously, remarked that he would finish his call some other time.

"Oh no, you won't" said the jaunty performer; "you will get so absorbed in these great big mines and political things that you'll forget all about poor little me."

This direct slur on Gubernatorial gallantry was equal to a challenge. At any rate, the Governor pledged himself to return.

"Ah, I don't believe any of you wicked Western men without some other guarantee than your word," said the clever Miss Stella; adding, "Leave me something valuable enough to insure your return."

Now, the Governor of Colorado has many bags of gold, but he does not carry them in his pockets, and the only ornament of cast he wore was a magnificent diamond ring, the one huge solitaire, valued at $15,000, shining out like an electric light.

The impulsive millionaire threw his jewel into her lap and made his exit. Then the smart Stella, without loss of time, packed her little pormanteau, skipped on atrain bound for Chicago. When the Governor called to redeem his pledge the news of her departure was broken to him by a colored waiter.

A Horse Dies from Fright.

One day last week at Emory Gap, Tennessee, a horse unaccustomed to seeing trains, was hitched standing near the depot when the south bound train passed by. As it approached he made the wildest demonstrations and tried to break loose, but his rider hastened to him, seized the bridle and prevented him. As the train drew nearer the horse a convulsive tremor passed over his entire form, and, trembling thus, he sank to the earth, dead.

WHEN Gladstone rises to speak, he clasps his hands behind his back. This attitude prevails, however, only during the opening sentences. Once warmed up, his gestures are rapid, almost furious. When addressing the House of Commons he will take the brass-bound box on the table as representative of "the right honorable gentleman," or "the noble lord" opposite, and beat it violently with his right hand. Or, standing with his heels closely pressed together, and feet spread fan-wise, so that he may turn as on a pivot to watch the effect of his speech, he will assume that the palm of his left hand is his adversary of the moment, and straightway he beats upon it with his right hand with the utmost ferocity.

THEY who picture Queen Victoria in their mind's eyes as clad in a robe of crimson with a gold crown upon her head will be shocked to learnth at she takes her daily drive with a black straw bonnet upon her head and with a large shawl of checked shepherd's plaid upon her shoulders.

An Authentic Testimony.

Gentlemen.—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing BURNETT'S COCOAINE and BURNETT'S KALLISTON advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.
